When you are inside the voting booth, have you ever considered why the ballot looks the way it does? Why are names and columns and circles to-fill-in situated in a specific way? Hear from Jack Armstrong, of West Chester, a professional election ballot designer! Joining our discussion is our own Director of Voter Services, Sandy Burke.

Jack has vast knowledge and experience not just of printing technologies, but also of election law, of the mailing industry, and of postal regulations and practices. Election printing is unpredictable by its nature, and subject to extreme scheduling pressures. Jack is a veteran of hundreds of elections in NJ, PA and even UT. For almost 30 years he has handled every imaginable contingency in election printing.

Sandy Burke, of Phoenixville, was officially appointed this year as our Director of Chester County's Department of Voter Services. She previously served as our Assistant Director and Interim Director. Sandy is skilled in the PA Election Code and election programming activities and was instrumental in the certification process of the '17 and '18 election results. In addition, she leads County programs related to poll worker outreach and training, campaign finance and voter registration. She has extensive experience in public policy and strategic initiatives as well as operational process efficiency.

We'll hear both of their takes on Governor Wolf's directive requiring new voting machines to have a voter-verifiable paper ballot or paper record of votes cast.

Admission is by Paid-up Membership only for Chair's Club & True Blue Society
